

Dear Valued Members, Donors and Visitors,

A belated Happy New Year to all.

Battery 519 tours continue in February and several other tours are also planned. Visit the museum's website, fortmilesmuseum.org. The Plan Your Visit page provides access to the full schedule.

We are excited to announce the beginning of the Winter Lecture Series on February 24 and hope you will plan to attend.

We look forward to seeing you at Fort Miles Museum in 2024.

Milford Museum American History Series

Milford Museum's American History Series will recognize Black History Month with a program detailing the contributions of Black women during World War II at 1 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 10, at Milford Public Library.

The program will be presented by teacher Dante Brizill, author of “Black Women in WWII: Greatness Under Fire,” his third book in the Greatness Under Fire series. Brizill’s presentation will introduce key figures and events of the war era.

Thanks to Our Supporters

Fort Miles Museum has successfully concluded its 2023 Annual Appeal. Many thanks to our loyal supporters - individuals, foundations and local businesses - who donated to help us fine-tune and launch the Fort Miles Development Plan, which features new restrooms, an improved lobby and new interactive exhibits.

Finally, speaking of foundations, Fort Miles Museum thanks Crystal Trust for its recent significant grant to support the Fort Miles Development Plan.
